Izmo has organized the fourth edition of the Izmo International School in Turin, from July 22nd to August 1st 2013, which focuses on public art and the (semi)public space. The course is aimed at students, graduates, professionals and, in general, anyone who is interested in sustainable art and creative design.

The lectures (in English) will be held by experts, professors and artists involved in the field of art work, urban design, cultural management, with the aim to provide broad and multidisciplinary insights into the topic. Furthermore, students will have the opportunity to gain firsthand experience of methods of sustainable and interactive design that will enable them to work creatively with different materials and to approach participatory design practices.

The training offered will be further enhanced by a meeting with guest lecturers Numen/For Use [Croatia-Austria], Maurizio Cilli [Italy], Diogene [Italy], Damiano Aliprandi [Italy] and Truly Design [Italy], who will show their projects and approaches to the topic. Participants will also collaborate with Numen to realize an installation specifically designed for the OGR's space.

Students will receive all the necessary materials and working tools and members of the Izmo crew will mentor them during each phase of the project. Participants to the Winter School will be awarded 4 credits recognized by Politecnico di Torino and transferable to any other university (with ECTS).

In addition, we will provide constant support in logistics, housing research, mobility, and tourism.
